Book of Business: Proportional Reinsurance
Amlin is a major provider of proportional property treaty capacity in the Lloyd's market, building long term relationships with a considerable proportion of cedants. Capacity is provided in both catastrophe and non-catastrophe exposed regions, but with a focus on small to medium size commercial risks, on a regional and full value basis, generally within niche businesses. As shown below, the book of business is geographically diverse, but weighted towards North America.

Biography: Dominic joined Amlin in 2000 having graduated in geography at the University of Birmingham. He began his career at Amlin assisting on the property excess of loss reinsurance account before moving as a trainee underwriter to the proportional property treaty account.

Dominic gained his ACII designation in 2003, and is a member of the Lloyd's India Advisory Group, the Lloyd's China Working Party and the LMA International Property Reinsurance sub-group. In addition to underwriting, Dominic has also had responsibility for Realistic Disaster Scenario calculation, collation and reporting at class, division and group level.
